Risks

Strategic Risks:

- Terrorist Activity
- Criminal Activity, including Serious & Organised Crime
- Public Disorder & domestic extremism
- Non-malicious hazards e.g. pandemic or heat wave
- Crowd Management
- Damage to UK reputation
- Policing resource stretch

Operational Policing

- The Games will be the largest ever peacetime security and policing operation in the UK.
- British policing is amongst the best in the world and the Police Service has substantial experience in policing major events.
- Less than a year out from the opening ceremony, our planning is progressing well and we are in a good position to deliver, with our partners, a safe and secure Games.
- Resourcing the demands on the Police Service during 2012 will be challenging but core policing across the country will not suffer and disruption will be minimised.

Objectives of the OPC Community Relations Team

- Give communities some sense of control over how the Games will affect them
- Allow any emerging safety and security issues to be identified and addressed early
- Ensure that vulnerabilities are not accentuated by the Games

Questions for your business

- How could your business be impacted by the Games?
- How can you mitigate the effects of the increase in demand of the travel network on your business?
- What can you do to mitigate the threat of terrorism during the Games?
- Will there be a potential for an increase in crime during the Games?
- What can you do to reduce the impact of crime upon your business during the Games?
